Windy City Corvettes at the 2013 Chicago Auto Show

As a member of NCCC and Windy City Corvettes, I wanted to share with you some very exciting news. For many years, Windy City Corvettes has been a part of the Chicago Auto Show through our Charity, Illinois Spina Bifida Association, in which we have been a Grand Benefactor, and have donated $50,000. In 2013, the Chicago Auto Show invited Windy City Corvettes to participate in the Show by having six of our cars with our own display. We were honored, as many of our members took turns standing by our cars at the display, talking with many Corvette enthusiasts. We were able to hear stories about “the Corvette that got away,” “Uncle Joe’s Corvette,” “my best friend’s dad’s Corvette,” and many more. We saw many pictures and videos. We also were able to talk about our club and what we enjoy. Most importantly, we were able to talk about our charity. My husband and I were proud to have our 2007 Atomic Orange Z06 there. It was beyond words. The club members who had cars there were Brian Rusthoven, Adam Wojcik, Christine Florek, Don Davies and Corvette Mike’s. I would like to share some pictures with you.

Also, one hour prior to the Chicago Auto Show opening to the public, Windy City Corvette was also invited to a semi-private Introduction with GM Engineers. Brian Rusthoven, with Windy City Corvettes, would like to share the event that he recorded.
